In order to have an idea of how the system is structerd, have a look at this picture . So far, the system works only by command line tools. We are working on a graphical interface.

{backbutton}